Welcome to DES Action USA

We are a national, non-profit consumer organization dedicated to informing the public about DES (diethylstilbestrol) and helping DES-exposed individuals. We publish a quarterly newsletter, The DES Action Voice, and many publications on various aspects of DES exposure. We also provide a link between DES-exposed people and researchers and the medical community.

About DES

Information about DES and the Health Risks and Care for DES Daughters, Sons, and Women Who Took DES.

What's New

- DES Bill Passes Congress!
After more than a year of waiting, letter-writing and campaigning, legislation extending authorization for DES research and establishing a National DES Education Program has passed Congress.
- PRESS RELEASE 9/28/98:

A DES Ad from 1957

This ad appeared in a major medical journal in 1957. The small print at the bottom reads:

"Recommended for routine prophylaxis in ALL pregnancies... 96 per cent live delivery with desPLEX in one series of 1200 patients - bigger and stronger babies, too. No gastric or other side effects with desPLEX - in either high or low dosage."

It is now known that DES exposure is related to health problems in the children of the women who took it, and in the women themselves. If you were exposed to DES, you may need special health care.

Health Risks and Care for DES Daughters

General Information

Cancer:

All DES daughters (women whose mothers took DES while pregnant with them) have a risk of about 1 in 1,000 for a rare cancer of the vagina or cervix called clear cell adenocarcinoma. If you or someone you know has been diagnosed with clear cell adenocarcinoma, we urge you to contact the DES Cancer Network. This cancer is practically non-existent in non-exposed women in this age group. Because of this risk DES daughters need a special exam at least once a year.

Infertility:

DES Daughters have an increased risk for infertility. Infertility treatments for DES daughters are, in general, not different from those for other women. DES daughters may want to see a doctor experienced in treating DES-exposed women.

Pregnancy Problems:

DES Daughters have a higher risk for ectopic pregnancy, miscarriage, and preterm labor and delivery. Most DES daughters can become pregnant and carry their babies to term. However, because of the above risks, all DES daughters (whether they have had previous normal pregnancies or not) require high risk obstetric care and early confirmation of pregnancy. DES daughters should have their pregnancies confirmed by a health care provider as soon as pregnancy is suspected, and should be seen more frequently throughout their pregnancies.

Structural Changes in Reproductive Organs:

DES daughters have an increased incidence of structural changes in their reproductive organs. These may or may not be linked to pregnancy problems, and are not known to be linked to cancer.

The Recommended Annual Pelvic Exam for DES Daughters:

The recommended annual pelvic exam for DES daughters is somewhat different from the routine exam for other women.

Finding the Right Doctor

It is important to see a doctor who knows how to care for DES-exposed individuals. You have a right to question your doctor and seek a second opinion. DES Action has a National Physician Referral List available free of charge. Simply contact DES Action at desact@well.com or 1-800-DES-9288

For More Information

For more detailed information on infertility, pregnancy care, specific structural changes in reproductive organs, and other DES-related health issues, contact DES Action at desact@well.com or 1-800-DES-9288. You may also want to look at our publications and resources pages and become a member of DES Action so you can stay informed through The DES Action Voice. For a response to an inquiry or to receive information, please include your postal address in your e-mail request to us.

Services Provided by DES Action USA

The DES Action Voice*, our quarterly newsletter

The only national publication devoted solely to all the news -- research updates, medical information, legal findings and more -- about DES. Available with your membership.

Publications

DES Action offers a number of publications at low cost to the public.

National Physician Referral List

DES Action can send you a list of physicians in your state who are familiar with care for DES exposed daughters. We cannot recommend any one physician over another. For a copy of the list contact DES Action at desact@well.com or 1-800-DES-9288. Please include your postal address in your e-mail request for information -- we cannot send the National Physician Referral List via e-mail.

National Attorney Referral List

DES Action can send you a list of attorneys in your state or region who represent DES-exposed individuals in lawsuits filed against pharmaceutical companies. For a copy of the list contact DES Action at desact@well.com or 1-800-DES-9288. Please include your postal address in your e-mail request for information -- we cannot send the National Attorney Referral List via e-mail.

Liaison with DES Researchers and the National Institutes of Health

DES Action staff and leaders represent our members' concerns to scientists studying the long-term effects of DES exposure. We are on a steering committee comprised of principal investigators studying groups of thousands of DES daughters, mothers and sons. We are the first to report any new scientific findings to you.

Representing Our Members' Concerns to Congress

DES Action is also called upon to represent our members' concerns to representatives in Congress. In 1992 we helped write legislation, passed that year, that mandated a renewal of funding for DES research and the first-time establishment of a National DES Education Program.

Telephone Hotline

Advice and referrals are available to members of the public and health-care providers via our toll-free hotline, 1-800-DES-9288, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Pacific time.

Pregnancy Bedrest "Warm-Line"

For women on pregnancy bedrest, we provide names and telephone numbers of "bedrest buddies" in your area. You can call a woman who has been through pregnancy bedrest for advice, support and encouragement as you make your way through your high-risk pregnancy.
